

THE CHARLESTON POST AND COURIER - JASIRI WHIPPER JOURNALISM SCHOLARSHIP

DEADLINE: MARCH 15, 2012

The Post and Courier newspaper in Charleston, S.C., offers a $6,000 scholarship to a South Carolina high school minority student planning a career in newspapers. In addition, the student must be enrolled as a print or visual communications major at USC's School of Journalism and Mass Communications. The scholarship is renewable until graduation for students who maintain a B average and show evidence of professional growth. Recipients may be offered paid internships at The Post and Courier. After graduation, recipients will be expected to accept a salaried position in the newsroom of the Charleston Post and Courier, if offered.

Name:

Social Security:

Home Phone:

Date of Birth:

Name of Parent/Guardian:

Home Address:

Name of High School:

Address of High School:

High School Telephone Number:

List the work you have done on high school publications, giving your position, type of publication and time you have worked on each.

List other work have you done in the area of journalism, such as part-time writer, photographer, broadcaster, etc.

Is financial aid necessary for you to attend USC? Yes ____ No ____ If yes, briefly explain your needs:

Why have you chosen the School of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of South Carolina?

Write a 200-word essay on “Why I want to Be a Journalist.”

In addition to the application form, student must attach a copy of SAT scores and a copy of their high school transcript. Mail application and supplemental forms to: Post and Courier Scholarship, Attn: Beverly Dominick, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC 29208