

McClatchy Minority Freshmen Scholarship Application

Deadline: March 15, 2012

This scholarship is awarded to minority freshmen, continuing students, and graduate students pursuing careers in print or visual communications journalism in the School of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of South Carolina. Scholarships and fellowships will be awarded based on need and merit as determined by the School of Journalism. To be eligible for this award, freshmen must be accepted to the School of Journalism and Mass Communications. This is a one-year, non-renewable scholarship.

The McClatchy Company is a leading newspaper and Internet publisher dedicated to the values of quality journalism, free expression and community service. Headquartered in Sacramento, Calif., the company has 12 daily and 17 community newspapers with a combined average circulation of 1.4 million daily and 1.9 million Sunday. Over the decades, McClatchy newspapers' many honors have included 13 Pulitzer Prizes, five of which were gold medals for public service. McClatchy's presence in the South began in 1990 when it acquired three dailies in South Carolina: The Herald in Rock Hill, The Island Packet in Hilton Head, and the Beaufort Gazette.

Name:

Address:

Phone number:

Email:

School:

School address:

School phone:

List your honors and accomplishments:

List any school or community activities:

List any journalism/mass communications activities:

List additional information that you want the scholarship committee to know:

On a separate sheet of paper, please attach a 200-word single-spaced essay describing your journalism career goals and scholarship needs.

Complete application and mail to: McClatchy Scholarships, Attn: Beverly Dominick
School of Journalism and Mass Communications, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC 29208