College of Journalism & Mass Communications

The faculty members teaching the Electronic News Sequence Senior Semester Program (JOUR 502, 503, 526 and 534) have determined that the following equipment is required for students taking these courses: small Sony digital camera unit and accessories, including batteries, cables, lights, microphones and tripod (estimated cost $4,000); large Sony digital camera unit and accessories, including batteries, cables, lights, microphones and tripod (estimated cost $6,000). Students may either purchase their own equipment (so long as it meets the exact specifications of the equipment required for the course) or elect to use equipment provided by the College. If a student elects to use equipment owned by the College, the student must read and agree to abide by the provisions of the following statement.

I, _____, acknowledge that I have been issued the small Sony digital set # _____ or the large Sony digital set # _____ from the USC College of Journalism and Mass Communications for my use in the Electronic News Sequence Senior Semester Program.

If this equipment is not returned to the College at or by the following time _____ or if the equipment is damaged beyond repair, I understand I may be required to pay the total cost of repair or replacement to the USC College of Journalism and Mass Communications. In the event that the equipment is not returned in good working order or replacement and/or repair costs are not paid, I understand that the College of Journalism and Mass Communications may withhold my grades from the Electronic News Sequence Senior Semester Program (JOUR 502, 503, 526 and 534) until the full amount is paid. In addition, I understand that my name will be referred to the office of Student Judicial Programs for appropriate further action under the provisions cited in Section 5.2, Section 5.8 and/or other applicable provisions in the 2000-2001 Student Handbook and Policy Guide.
